- June 3, Connor Bedard took home the CHL's Top Prospect Award presented by Kubota Canada, Top Scorer Award, and David Branch Player of the Year Award presented by Kia Canada — marking the first time in CHL history that a skater has won all three of these awards in the same season since the introduction of the CHL's Top Scorer award in 1994.

PATS EXTRAS CONTINUED...

- Bedard also became the first Regina Pats player to win the CHL Player of the Year Award since Jordan Eberle (2009-10), while just the fourth Pats player to win this award, joining Doug Wickenheiser (1979-80), Ed Staniowski (1974-75) and Eberle. He also became the first Pats player to win the CHL Top Scorer Award since Sam Steel (2016-17) as well as the first Pats player all-time to earn the CHL Top Draft Prospect.
- The Regina Pats reached the post-season for the first time since 2018, falling in seven games to the Saskatoon Blades in the opening round...the Pats have now made the playoffs 15 times since the 1999-2000 season...prior to last year, the last time they were in, they lost in the Eastern Conference quarter-final.
- The Regina Pats finished the 2022-23 WHL Regular Season with 72 points (34-30-3-1), good for sixth in the Eastern Conference standings and 11th in the WHL, ranking fifth in goals for, scoring 262 goals this season, averaging 3.85 goals per-game...the Pats special teams was also a key component to their success this season as their power play finished seventh in the WHL at 26.7% while their penalty kill saw a huge improvement from last year, going from 71.9% in 2021-22 to 77.0% in 2022-23.
