PLAYER PROFILE

27 CADEN BROWN

Veteran forward and alternate captain Caden Brown is off to a scorching start in his overage season, coming off a week to remember. The 20-year-old became the Pats' first WHL Player of the Week since the 2022-23 campaign after racking up five goals and three assists for eight points in three games.

Brown's standout moment came on Saturday in Edmonton, when he played the hero in a 5-4 overtime win against the Oil Kings — scoring the tying goal in the third period before completing his first career WHL hat-trick in overtime to cap off a dramatic comeback. Earlier in the week, the Fort St. John, B.C. product notched a career-high four points (2G-2A) in a 6-3 victory over Lethbridge.

At 5-foot-11 and 190 pounds, Brown brings a blend of strength, scoring touch, and leadership to the Pats' lineup. He's currently on pace for 51 goals, 28 assists, and 79 points, putting him on track for a breakout season that could open the door to professional opportunities.

Originally selected by the Prince George Cougars in the first round of the 2020 WHL Prospects Draft, Brown made a stop in Everett before being acquired by the Pats last season. Since joining Regina, he's been a key offensive driver, tallying 41 points (24G-17A) in 53 games.

SCOUTING REPORT

BRANDON WHEAT KINGS

The Brandon Wheat Kings are off to a slower-than-expected start to the 2025-26 season after entering the year as one of the projected contenders in the Eastern Conference.

Through 11 games, the Wheat Kings sit at 4-6-1-0, following a strong 2024-25 campaign that saw them finish fifth in the conference with 83 points (38-23-4-3). However, Brandon appears to be finding its rhythm, winning back-to-back games last weekend with decisive victories over Lethbridge (7-0) and Moose Jaw (8-4).

Despite the early-season challenges, the Wheat Kings remain a skilled and balanced group led by several key players. Pacing the team in scoring is 2027 NHL Draft prospect Jaxon Jacobson, who has tallied 21 points (3G-18A) through 11 games. Meanwhile, Regina product Chase Surkan leads all WHL 16-year-olds with 19 points (12G-7A) in 11 contests.

Brandon's lineup also boasts a pair of NHL prospects in Brady Turko, a seventh-round selection of the Anaheim Ducks, and Carter Klippenstein, chosen in the fourth round by the Minnesota Wild.

PLAYER TO WATCH

17 JOBY BAUMULLER

Wheat Kings forward Joby Baumuller is heating up in a big way. The 18-year-old recorded his first career hat-trick on Friday in a dominant 7-0 win over the Lethbridge Hurricanes, continuing what's been an impressive start to his 2025-26 campaign.

Through 11 games this season, the Wilcox, Sask. product has seven goals and five assists for 12 points, and has found the back of the net in four of his last five games (6G-2A), showing signs of confidence and consistency as he settles into a key offensive role.

A first-round pick (12th overall) in the 2022 WHL Prospects Draft, Baumuller spent his first two WHL seasons with the Brandon Wheat Kings, where he produced 34 points (18G-16A) in 59 games last season, following an 11-point rookie year (5G-6A) as a 16-year-old.

Known for his strong shot, power-forward style, and relentless compete level, Baumuller is quickly becoming a player to watch — and a crucial piece of the Wheat Kings attack this season.
