PLAYER PROFILE

37 COHEN KLASSEN

Drafted by the Regina Pats in the third round of the 2023 WHL Prospects Draft, 17-year-old forward Cohen Klassen has quickly evolved into one of the club's most versatile and reliable players.

The Martensville, Sask. product has embraced a true Swiss-army knife role for head coach Brad Herauf this season. Whether he's skating on the top line against opponents' best players, anchoring a shutdown trio, or driving offense in key moments, Klassen has consistently delivered whatever the team has needed.

Through 20 games this season, Klassen has produced 14 points (5G-9A) — just four shy of surpassing his rookie total of 17 points (6G-11A) from 48 games in 2024-25. His strong start is even more impressive considering the adversity he faced last year, when a lower-body injury cut his season short and later required off-season surgery. After a long and determined rehab process, Klassen has returned stronger, faster, and more confident.

That resurgence hasn't gone unnoticed. Klassen is now garnering attention from NHL scouts and is currently projected as a potential sixth- or seventh-round pick in the 2026 NHL Draft. With his blend of intelligence, competitiveness, and adaptability, he continues to cement himself as a crucial piece of the Pats' future core.

SCOUTING REPORT

MOOSE JAW WARRIORS

The Moose Jaw Warriors enter the 2025-26 season in the early stages of a rebuild, but signs of progress are already evident. One year removed from capturing their first WHL Championship in franchise history (2024), the Warriors took a major step back last season, finishing last in the league with a 15-45-6-2 record. This year, however, they've taken meaningful strides forward, opening the campaign with a 10-9-1-1 record for 21 points—placing them sixth in the Eastern Conference.

Offensively, Moose Jaw continues to be driven by Lynden Lakovic, the Washington Capitals' first-round pick who led the Club in scoring last season with 58 points in just 47 games. Lakovic remains the engine of their attack, providing elite skill, pace, and game-breaking ability.

Supporting him is breakout forward Landen McFadden, who has already surpassed last season's production. After finishing with just 15 points a year ago, McFadden has emerged as a key secondary scorer, sitting second on the Team with 22 points.

On the back end, Aiden Ziprick has taken on a true No. 1 defenceman role. After establishing himself as a top defender last season, the steady two-way blueliner is off to a strong start with 21 points in 21 games, logging heavy minutes in all situations.

PLAYER TO WATCH

17 LYNDEN LAKOVIC

Lynden Lakovic enters tonight's matchup as one of the WHL's premier offensive threats. The Warriors captain is off to a scorching start, leading the league with 17 goals in just 19 games. He carries an 12-game point streak into tonight's contest, recording 12 of his 17 goals during that stretch.

Last season, Lakovic paced Moose Jaw's attack with 58 points (27G-31A) in 47 games, a performance that propelled him to being selected 27th overall by the Washington Capitals. Standing 6-foot-4, 203 pounds, the left-shot forward brings a rare blend of size, reach, and high-end skill. His impact was undeniable during the Warriors' historic 2023-24 season, where he played a pivotal role in capturing the franchise's first WHL Championship — highlighted by scoring the overtime winner in Game 7 of the Eastern Conference Final against Saskatoon.

Now 19 years old, Lakovic has emerged as a legitimate candidate for Canada's World Junior roster. His game is built around elite vision and composure; a highly skilled passer, he elevates every possession by making the right play without unnecessary risk. Complementing that playmaking is a powerful, accurate, and versatile shot—one he can release in stride, change the angle on, or curl around sticks to manufacture shooting lanes.
