PLAYER PROFILE

22 SHEA ROLLASON

Shea Rollason has quietly become an important piece of the Regina Pats lineup during the 2025-26 season, providing value that goes well beyond the scoresheet. While his offensive numbers show two assists through 24 games, Rollason has carved out a key role on the defensive side of the puck. The big right-shot winger is trusted in penalty-killing situations and regularly matched up against the opposition's top players, bringing reliability and structure every shift.

Rollason also adds a physical dimension that helps set the tone for the group. Standing 6-foot-2 and weighing 186 pounds, he plays with purpose and energy, using his size to win battles and disrupt plays along the boards. His work ethic and physicality have made him a dependable presence in a shutdown role—an element that can be difficult to replace in a young lineup.

Before joining the Pats, Rollason showcased his offensive upside at the U18 level. The Winnipeg, Man. product led the Winnipeg Bruins U18 AAA team in goals, assists, and points in 2024-25, piling up 66 points (29G-37A) in 47 games while ranking among the league's top scorers. Acquired from the Everett Silvertips along with a second-round pick on January 9 in exchange for Zackary Shantz, Rollason represents an important part of the Pats' future—bringing size, versatility, and a team-first mindset to the lineup.

SCOUTING REPORT

BRANDON WHEAT KINGS

The Brandon Wheat Kings arrive in Regina playing confident hockey, coming off a 4-1 win over the Saskatoon Blades on Wednesday. The victory marked their second in the past three games and fourth in the last six, as the Wheat Kings continue to build momentum early in the season.

Through 24 games, Brandon owns a 12-11-1-0 record, sitting seventh in the Eastern Conference. That positioning follows a strong 2024-25 campaign in which the Club finished fifth with 83 points before being eliminated in five games by the Lethbridge Hurricanes in the opening round.

Offensively, the Wheat Kings are powered by a balanced attack. Jaxon Jacobson leads the way with 38 points (8G-30A) in just 21 games, placing him tied for third in scoring across the Western Hockey League. Veteran sniper Luke Mistelbacher, a former 42-goal scorer, tops Brandon in goals with 18 and is tied for fourth league-wide.

Depth has been a key strength as well, with seven Wheat Kings skaters operating at better than a point-per-game pace—making Brandon a dangerous opponent any night on the schedule.

PLAYER TO WATCH

13 JORDAN GAVIN

Jordan Gavin has quietly built one of the most impressive and respected resumes in the Western Hockey League.

Acquired from the Tri-City Americans at last season's trade deadline, Gavin has established himself as a key piece of the Brandon Wheat Kings top six forward group. In just 59 games with Brandon, the Surrey, B.C. product has produced 58 points (23G-33A), adapting seamlessly into a scoring role while maintaining his detail-oriented two-way game.

A former second overall selection in the 2021 WHL Prospects Draft—taken one pick after Berkley Catton—Gavin has consistently justified his draft status. The 5-foot-11, 180-pound left-shot forward brings pace, vision, and intelligence to every shift.

What truly separates Gavin, however, is his discipline and sportsmanship. He has been nominated for WHL Sportsmanship Player of the Year in back-to-back seasons and remarkably has not taken a single penalty since his 16-year-old campaign. Through 231 WHL games, Gavin has recorded just four career penalty minutes while tallying 209 points (76G-133A), an almost unheard-of combination of production and composure.
