24 JACE EGLAND

Tonight is a stage Jace Egland knows well.

One year ago, on December 14, 2024, Egland etched his name into Pats lore when he needed just 2:25 to unleash the Teddy Bear Toss mayhem, burying the goal that sent thousands of stuffed toys raining down against the Moose Jaw Warriors. It was a moment that perfectly matched his tenacious, high-energy playing style.

Now, he has the chance to do it again. The last Pat to score Teddy Bear Toss goals in back-to-back seasons was Tanner Howe in 2021 and 2022. Egland enters tonight with an opportunity to join that exclusive company.

This season, the Eastend, Sask. native has quietly become one of Regina's most trusted defensive forwards. Through 24 games, the 5-foot-9, 180-pound right-shot winger has chipped in six points (3G-3A), but his value extends well beyond the scoresheet. Egland's speed, physical edge and relentless compete level have made him a key piece of the Pats' penalty kill and matchup lines, consistently drawing tough assignments and thriving in them.

Before his WHL career began, Egland was known primarily as a scorer. With the Swift Current Legionnaires U18 AAA program, he piled up 61 goals and 111 points in 97 games — numbers that showcased his finishing touch and natural offensive instincts.

SCOUTING REPORT

KELOWNA ROCKETS

The Kelowna Rockets roll into Regina looking very much like a team on the rise — a far cry from the group that finished last in the Western Conference just a season ago. After an 18-44-4-2 campaign that forced a reset, the Rockets wasted no time rebuilding, and their turnaround has been one of the early stories of the 2025-26 WHL season.

Now in their 30th year, the Rockets aren't just aiming to be competitive — they're preparing to host the 106th Memorial Cup in 2026, their sixth appearance at the national stage and a chance to recreate the magic of their 2004 championship run on home ice.

Their resurgence starts with talent. Kelowna boasts six NHL draft picks. Headlined by Tij Iginla, the sixth-overall pick of the Utah Hockey Club, the Rockets feature a dynamic collection of young pros in the making: Peyton Kettles (PIT), Hiroki Gojsic (NSH), Carson Wetsch (SJ), Thomas Poletin (NYI) and Will Sharpe (LA).

The Rockets enter tonight's matchup at 14-10-3-1, tied for sixth in the Western Conference and right in the thick of a six-game swing through the Eastern Division.

PLAYER TO WATCH

16 CARSON WETSCH

Kelowna Rockets captain Carson Wetsch has quickly established himself as one of the WHL's premier leaders — and one of its most impactful forwards.

A 2024 draft pick of the San Jose Sharks, Wetsch entered this season already carrying a strong reputation after wearing the "C" for the Calgary Hitmen in 2024-25. Last year, he helped Calgary's offence with 33 goals, 19 assists and 52 points in 68 games, emerging as a driving force at both ends of the ice.

This past off-season, the retooling Hitmen moved Wetsch to Kelowna, a club focused firmly on building toward hosting the 2026 Memorial Cup. The Rockets wasted little time recognizing his presence — and on October 7, Wetsch was officially named captain.

He's rewarded that trust with elite production. Through 25 games, the Vancouver product leads the Rockets in scoring with 30 points (11G-19A), providing a blend of strength and compete that makes him one of the toughest matchups in the B.C. Division.

Wetsch's leadership pedigree extends well beyond the WHL. Internationally, he has represented Canada with distinction, earning a U17 World Hockey Challenge silver medal in 2022, followed by an impressive 2023-24 season that saw him capture both Hlinka Gretzky Cup gold and IIHF U18 World Championship gold.
