PLAYER PROFILE

44 MATT PARANYCH

Matt Paranych has become a key piece on the backend for the Regina Pats, establishing himself as a dependable top-four defenceman. The Edmonton product is enjoying a career year offensively, posting 33 points (7G-26A) in 56 games, providing steady puck movement and reliable minutes in all situations.

After recording seven goals and 21 points in 57 games during the 2024-25 season split between Regina and the Medicine Hat Tigers, Paranych has taken a noticeable step forward. Acquired by the Pats last December, he quickly carved out an important role and has brought consistency and composure to the blue line.

Paranych began his Western Hockey League career with the Medicine Hat Tigers, skating in parts of two seasons from 2023 to 2025. His development there laid the foundation for the player he is today — a smooth-skating, smart defenceman who understands how to manage the pace of a game.

Acquired by the Pats last December, Paranych quickly carved out a regular role and hasn't looked back. His ability to adapt and elevate his play has made him a key component of Regina's defensive core as the team continues to push forward.

SCOUTING REPORT

MEDICINE HAT TIGERS

The Medicine Hat Tigers roll into Regina as one of the hottest teams in the Western Hockey League. Winners of six straight games and riding a 10-game point streak (8-0-2), the Tigers have surged to first place in the Central Division and sit second in the Eastern Conference with 92 points — just four back of the conference-leading Prince Albert Raiders.

The Tigers are driven offensively by twin brothers Markus Ruck and Liam Ruck, who have been nearly unstoppable all season. Markus Ruck leads the entire WHL in scoring with 88 points. Liam Ruck isn't far behind, sitting fourth in league scoring with 86 points.

What truly separates Medicine Hat is the production they get from the back end. The Tigers boast the top two scoring defencemen in the WHL:

Jonas Woo leads all WHL defencemen with 74 points and sits second among blueliners with 26 goals. Bryce Pickford is right behind with 71 points and leads all WHL defencemen with an eye-popping 37 goals.

If the playoffs started today, the Pats and Tigers would meet in the first round, making tonight's matchup a measuring stick for both Clubs.

PLAYER TO WATCH

34 ANDREW BASHA

Andrew Basha has been nothing short of exceptional since being reassigned to the Medicine Hat Tigers at the trade deadline. The Calgary product has exploded offensively, recording 35 points (11G-24A) in just 23 games, while riding a 10-game point streak that includes four goals and 11 assists. His speed, creativity, and ability to drive play have made him an immediate difference-maker in the Tigers' top six.

Selected by the Calgary Flames in the second round of the 2024 NHL Draft, Basha began the season with their AHL affiliate, the Calgary Wranglers, where he posted five points in 27 games. Since returning to the WHL, his confidence and offensive touch have been on full display, showing why he's regarded as one of Calgary's top young forward prospects.

Basha is no stranger to big moments in Medicine Hat. A key contributor to the Tigers' WHL Championship run last season, he recorded five points (2G-3A) in the championship series against the Spokane Chiefs. Now back in familiar colours, Basha has once again proven to be a critical piece for a Tigers team with championship aspirations.
