PLAYER PROFILE

27 CADEN BROWN

As the Regina Pats push through the final stretch of the season, forward Caden Brown is making the most of the closing chapter of his WHL career.

The 20-year-old from Fort St. John, B.C., has emerged as one of the Pats' most reliable offensive threats this season, putting together a career year with 60 points (28 goals, 32 assists) in 59 games.

Brown's WHL journey began when he was selected in the first round of the 2020 WHL Prospects Draft by the Prince George Cougars. Over the course of his WHL career, Brown has suited up for three franchises — Prince George, Everett, and Regina. In 284 career WHL games, he has recorded 170 points (80 goals, 90 assists).

Since being acquired by the Pats from the Everett Silvertips in 2024, Brown has become a key part of Regina's forward group. In exactly 100 games with the Pats, he has produced 88 points, including 43 goals.

With his junior career nearing its conclusion, Brown has already lined up his next opportunity, committing to Lindenwood University for the 2026-27 season where he will continue his hockey and academic career at the NCAA level.

SCOUTING REPORT

PRINCE ALBERT RAIDERS

The Prince Albert Raiders enter the final stretch of the regular season locked in a battle for first place in the Eastern Conference with the Medicine Hat Tigers. With a record of 48-10-5-1, the Raiders sit at 102 points on the season, tied atop the conference standings with just four games remaining.

The last time the Club surpassed the 100-point mark came during the 2018-19 campaign. That season, the Raiders finished with a 54-10-2-2 record and 112 points before going on to capture the WHL championship with a seven-game series victory over the Vancouver Giants.

This year's success also represents a major step forward from last season. The Raiders posted an 84-point campaign in 2023-24 with a 39-23-5-1 record before their playoff run ended in the second round, when they were swept by Medicine Hat.

Prince Albert's rise this season has been fueled by depth throughout the lineup. Despite not having a player ranked inside the top 20 of WHL scoring, the Raiders boast one of the deepest offensive groups in the league. Eight players have surpassed the 20-goal mark, while six skaters are producing at better than a point-per-game pace.

Leading the charge is Braeden Cootes, a first-round pick of the Vancouver Canucks, who paces the club with 1.36 points per game this season.

PLAYER TO WATCH

28 JONAH SIVERTSON

Regina product Jonah Sivertson has made an immediate impact in his rookie season with the Prince Albert Raiders. The 17-year-old forward leads all Raiders rookies in scoring with 49 points (22G-29A) in 62 games, while his +43 rating ranks third on the team. Sivertson is also one of eight Prince Albert players to surpass the 20-goal mark this season, highlighting his ability to contribute offensively despite being in his first WHL campaign.

Before arriving in Prince Albert, Sivertson put up eye-popping numbers with the Regina Pat Canadians. Skating alongside Maddox Schultz, the 6-foot-3 forward recorded 77 points (32G-45A) in just 30 games last season, helping the Pat Canadians capture both a league championship and the TELUS Cup. Sivertson continued to shine on the national stage, adding 14 points (7G-5A) in seven games during the tournament run.

Now in his first WHL season, Sivertson has quickly proven he can produce at the next level, making the talented rookie a key player to keep an eye on whenever the Raiders take the ice.
